

Pamela W. Bunn

Stockholder / Director

There's a profound significance to environmental litigation in Hawai'i. Pamela Bunn believes, "Protecting the kuleana users' access to natural resources is almost more important than protecting the resource itself, because it's also protecting their livelihood."

Pam's commercial litigation practice includes water rights, environmental and land use disputes. She has represented clients in disputes involving commercial leases, title issues, trade secrets protection, employment discrimination, and mergers and acquisitions. Pam is also experienced in appellate litigation, including administrative appeals, as well as mediation and arbitration.

p (808) 524-1800
f (808) 524-4591
pbunn@ahfi.com

Practice Areas

Appellate Practice
Environment, Cultural & Natural Resources
Real Estate

Admitted to Practice

Hawai'i
U.S. District Court for the District of Hawai'i

Awards and Recognition

Best Lawyers in America®

Affiliations

Hawaii State Bar Association
American Bar Association
Sierra Club, Hawai'i Chapter, former executive committee member Waimanalo Community Development Corporation, former director

Education

William S. Richardson School of Law, University of Hawai'i (J.D. with Certificate in Environmental Law)
Southampton College of Long Island University (B.S., Marine Biology)